VET Goes Rural

COMO UNA CABRA WITH THIS PROJECT CONTRIBUTES TO ACHIEVE INNOVATION IN VET METHODOLOGIES AND APPROACHES TO MAKE VET OPPORTUNITIES ADAPTED TO THE NEEDS AND EXPECTATIONS OF PROFESSIONALS AND LEARNERS IN ISOLATED RURAL AND REMOTE AREAS OF THE EU.

1 Context

- VET programmes must be accessible to vulnerable groups, the low-skilled and people in rural or remote areas.
- VET staff should undertake continuous professional development to provide high quality training through digital skills and effective innovative methods.

2 Target group

VET providers and low-skilled adults in isolated remote/rural areas in Spain, Ireland, Italy and Greece.

3 Objective: To promote vocational training in isolated remote/rural areas.

Improve the skills and capacities of vocational education and training (VET) professionals to provide better training and encourage learner participation in isolated rural/remote areas of the EU.

4 VET goes RURAL: Improving access to VET in rural areas

1. Research, mapping and analysis of the main barriers and motivations for participation in VET activities in rural areas.
2. Educational suite incorporating new teaching and training strategies and tools for VET providers.
3. Design, pilot testing and fine-tuning of an e-learning course for VET providers.

5 Innovative methodology

VET goes RURAL includes effective coordination and communication mechanisms between partners based on coordination meetings, co-creation, project management plan, face to face events.

6 Results

- Enhanced capacities of VET providers
- Knowledge transfer and capacity building
- Innovation in VET methodologies and approaches
- More than 240 VET professionals and 100 learners from rural communities
